A gift-list app is probably one of the most useful apps you'll download this season. It will certainly help save your holiday budget from going into the red, and may prevent financial holiday blues.

Check out these 8 holiday gift list apps:

1) Santa's Bag

This free IOS app helps users keep track of their "giftees" wants, how many gifts they've purchased, how much they want to spend, and even whether or not you've wrapped the gift.

2) Christmas Gift List

This free Android app makes buying and budgeting this year and next easy since it archives to remind users of favorite items for their favorite people.

3) The Christmas List

For $1.99, Android users can use this app to divide up the money they're spending on each person on their list and organize their list by store.

4) Gift List Manager

Android users can choose between a free app or a $2.99 Pro version. Users can add locations, and within those, they can add people and groups for family, friends and co-workers. They can also take a photo of the gift within the app and scan an item while shopping.

5) Gift It

This free IOS app lets users swipe within the app to mark gifts as purchased and rank gift lists in order of completion.

6) Christmas List

This free Windows phone app keeps things simple. It shows which gifts are pending and which have been purchased and lets users list a budget for each person on their list.

7) Giftplanner

This free IOS app covers ALL holidays, events and birthdays the user has to buy for. Users can balance the budget for each event, use a bookmarklet to add items to lists while browsing online, and send gift cards directly from within the app.

8) Christmas List Snowball

This free Android app shows a summary including the user's budget and actual money spent. It also lists how many people are still giftless, how many recipients are over budget, and who's receiving the most expensive gift.
